YUNG-HSUN LIN Case Number: 2:06-CR-963-JLL-01

SUPERVISED RELEASE

Upon release from imprisonment, the defendant shall be placed on supervised release for a term of 2 years.

Within 72 hours of release from custody of the Bureau of Prisons, the defendant shall report in person to the Probation Office in the district to which the defendant is released.

While on supervised release, the defendant shall comply with the standard conditions that have been adopted by this court (on the next page).

Based on information presented, the defendant is excused from the mandatory drug testing provision, however, may be requested to submit to drug testing during the period of supervision if the probation officer determines a risk of substance abuse.

If this judgment imposes a fine, special assessment, costs, or restitution obligation, it shall be a condition of supervised release that the defendant pay any such fine, assessments, costs, and restitution that remains unpaid at the commencement of the term of supervised release and shall comply with the following special conditions:

As a further special condition of supervised release, a two-year term of supervised release is also recommended to aid the probation office in monitoring the defendant's transition from confinement, as is a special condition restricting the defendant from working in the capacity of a systems programmer/administrator. While this is his speciality, any company would be put at risk...

The defendant shall cooperate in the collection of DNA as directed by the probation officer.
